

Table of Contents

- 1 Fire in the Pueblo and Tucson's Renaissance of 1898
- 15 The Legend of Pay Car Curve and the Forward Thrust of a Railroad in a City on the Move
- 32 I'll Meet You in the Cornfield: The Tragic Train Wreck of 1903
- 45 A Railroad Is as a Railroad Does: Full Steam Ahead
- 64 Inventors, Wandering Willies, and Unique Souls: Something in the Desert Air
- 83 Colonel Epes Randolph: Dynamic Railroad Man of the Southwest
- 103 And the Beat Goes On: Rail Competition, Humanity, and World War I
- 121 The Shops: Throbbing Heart of a Mighty Railroad
- 143 Southern Pacific Political Punch: Power Across the Decades
- 160 Stallions of Steel: Firemen and Oil Burners on the Tucson Division
- 174 Oh, for the Life of an Engineer: Hoghead Heaven in the Arizona Desert
- 192 The Black Cavalry of Commerce: U.S. Mail, Ores, and Cattle
- 211 The Human Cargo and "Grape Trains": A Dangerous Job, that Railroading
- 235 The Eviscerous Octopus: Everybody's Workin' on the Railroad
- 256 On the Ground in the Tucson Division: Seniority, Nepotism, and Racist Realities
- 272 World War and Strong Women: A Different Tucson
- 288 The Day the Music Died: From "Ch, ch, ch, Boom!" to "Whrrr" in the Blink of an Eye
- 307 References
- 321 The Value of a dollar
- 321 Oral History Records
- 322 Index
- 333 Photo Index
- 334 About the Dixon Lunettes
- 335 About the Author